LARGEST PERSONAL RETURN.

Listen what the South Charleston Sentinel has to say concerning the report of the district assessor in Clark county and how the duplicate has been increased one hundred million.

"South Charleston gets the honor for the largest personal return, $500,000, for the Houston interests, which the next nearest is John W. Bookwalter, of Springfield, $181,000. These returns do not include real estate. According to the tax assessor it was his belief that every dollar of personal property owned by these men had been returned and without restraint. South Charleston will have a duplicate next year for taxable purposes that will exceed $1,500,000."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago)

LESSON FOR JULY 26

THE POUNDS AND THE TALENTS.
LESSON TEXT—Luke 19:11-27, et. Matt. 25:14-30.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things; enter into the joy of thy lord." Matt. 25:21 R. V.

We are told plainly why Jesus spoke the first parable (v. 11). We must beware of confusing these two parables though they are one in their essential teachings.

The parable of the pounds was uttered before the triumphant entry of Jesus into Jerusalem while that of the talents was spoken subsequently. This association does not mean identity for each has a separate lesson. Both have to do with an absent lord whose return was imminent. The Jews looked for a temporal, visible Kingdom and many were associating the earthly life of our Lord with that expected manifestation. Hence this parable as recorded by Luke.

Issue Is Fidelity.

I. "Occupy Till I Come," vv. 11-14. Both of these parables have to do with the return of an absent lord who will then establish his kingdom. In view of this return and consummation, his servants are to give their undivided attention to their immediate responsibilities. They are to trade, to do business with that that has been entrusted to them. They are to actively discharge their duty. Ere the visible kingdom is established Jesus told these Jews there must be a period of preparation. Jesus, himself, is the "noblemen" whose ascension into heaven where he is to receive a kingdom fulfills the "departures into a far country." He will return to set up that kingdom, Acts 1:6-7, with "all authority," Matt. 28:18 R. V., Eph. 1:18-23; I Pet. 3:22. He may return at any time. In neither parable is there a full description of the kingdom as it is to be established, for both have to do with the servants. The issue is that of fidelity in each.

The "citizens" (v. 13) include his proper subjects the Jews, John 1:11; Acts 4:27-28, and in this connection we recall their cry, "Away with him, crucify," Luke 23:8; John 19:15. These "citizens," also include all of his professed followers but not necessarily represented men, Matt. 7:21-23. The king gives to each servant (v. 13) a pound (about $18.00). His deposit is equal in each case. In the parable of the talents there is a difference in the amounts bestowed. This last emphasizes the fact that each is to be held responsible according to the measure of his own personal ability. Putting these two together we see that all the servants of the king are responsible for the one pound which is a symbol of the common fact of the kingdom power. At the same time the servant is also responsible for that common power according to the measure in which it is entrusted to him, in which he is able to deal with it. The small amount of one pound indicates our responsibility for the smallest gifts.

Parable of Pounds.

II. "When He Was Returned," vv. 15-30. The parable of the pounds was spoken to those who thought he must at once establish his kingdom of God. That of the talents was given in answer to the disciples' inquiry as to when certain things which he had foretold would take place. Upon his return all of these servants will be summoned before him, Matt. 25:13, Rom. 14:10-12, II Cor. 5:10. As Jesus stood there, he likewise of that as of all other ages, saw ahead of him Jerusalem and death. He also saw beyond that his resurrection and the return to receive a kingdom (v. 13), a period therefore in this world during which his servants shall be responsible for the care of his interests, a time during which they shall occupy, do business with what he has entrusted them of the kingdom and of the power.

All of this will culminate in his return when he will deal with those to whom this responsibility has been given, and then establish finally his kingdom. In the parable Jesus deals with each servant separately, and emphasizes the fact of stewardship. The pound belonged to the king. For his faithfulness the first servant received, v. 17, (a) the king's commendation and (b) authority over ten cities. Later, (v. 24) he also received another pound. The second did not give quite so good a report, and his reward lacked the approbation of the king, though he is placed over "five cities." His reward was in proportion to his faithfulness.

The third report was bad. It reveals neglect, laziness, and a wrong conception regarding the king. He sought to excuse his sloth by blaming another. The excuses of the sinner always condemn himself, not God, and augment the sinner's guilt. The "wicked servant" lost what he would not use. If we will not use what we must lose. Doubtless this servant considered himself unfortunate, though he was judged "out of his own mouth." Reverting again to those citizens who hated him and would not have the king to "reign over them," Jesus closes his parable (v. 27).

This week will about complete the book thrashing in this vicinity, the dry weather adding to the extent that delays were unnecessary. On Tuesday and Wednesday, Kerr & Hastings Bros. took in over ten thousand bushels of wheat, 72 loads being the largest delivery of the season. Mr. Frank Townsley holds the record for the delivery of the largest crop in one day, 1650 bushels were threshed and delivered.

The township trustees have started work on the Measles Creek cemetery bill which is to be repaired with macadam, the county commissioners also lending their aid by the use of the county machinery. The entrance to the cemetery will be macadamized, the commissioners, Williamson, Austin and Conwell, kindly granting the cemetery board the use of the machinery for this work. When completed the improvement will add much to the appearance of the grounds. The board also expects to put up an iron fence across the front of the grounds.

Telephone your orders for bread, pies or cakes to The Cedarville Bakery, No. 44.

While most everything has been affected by the dry weather we are almost sure of a good water melon season. Mr. John Marshall, the leader in this line, is said to have one of the best patches he has ever grown. The recent rains put the Lackey patch in excellent condition and it is expected that there will be melons for market in two weeks. The patch on the Barber farm did not fare so well in that rains missed that section.

NICHOLS FAVORITE AT CHAUTAUQUAS

His Lectures Are Forceful Messages of Uplift.

It is probable that no lecturer in the Lyceum and Chautauqua has enjoyed a more rapid rise in public favor and demand than has Roland A. Nichols, who will lecture here during Chautauqua week. During 1909-1910 other interests claimed most of his attention, but the Colt Lyceum Bureau placed him on the list and booked him for five Lyceum lectures. The season following he got twenty-five dates, including returns to the five towns where he had lectured the preceding year. Then the bureau engaged him for six months and booked him for one hundred and fifty lectures in ten states. The season of 1912-1913 his time was over-sold before the end of June, so the bureau had to arrange for another month, and even then many towns had to be refused. The season of 1913-1914 he led the list of lecturers in The Colt Lyceum in dates engaged.

There are reasons for this popularity. Physically, he stands over six feet, and weighs two hundred pounds.

ROLAND A. NICHOLS.

Lyceum and Chautauqua Lecturer. He is great, athletic and graceful in his movements. He has a deep, well modulated voice, under perfect control. His enunciation is faultless, his personality magnetic. Then his lectures are great messages of uplift delivered in a most entertaining manner, not a dry moment from first to last. Nichols is a great impersonator, and an inimitable story teller. His sense of humor is keen, his ability to convulse his audience with tales of laughter and the next moment to lift them to sublime heights is unexcelled.

MISS LUCY J. PRICE.

MISS LUCY J. PRICE of Cleveland, who will debate against Woman Suffrage during Chautauqua week, disproves the statement to often heard—that only old women are opposed to woman suffrage.

We would guess that she is not more than twenty-four, since The Colt-Alber management declares the above picture is a very recent one—not over two months old.

KEEPING YOUNG MEN FROM THE BIG CITIES.

Just now the question, "How can we keep the young men at home?" is a question receiving the attention not only of parents, but of educators and business men everywhere. But we want to say to our readers that in our opinion nothing can be done that will have a greater tendency toward causing more young men to stay at home in the smaller towns and in rural communities, where they should be, than to give them the right kind of broad business teaching, just such teaching as they have a right to expect from this great forum, the Chautauqua; just such teaching as they have a right to expect right there in your community.

It is fitting that every community that can do it should bring statesmen, reformers, educators, preachers, to that community, to arouse and inspire and uplift its citizenship, but we believe that it is a mistake to neglect the subject—community development—one that every person in that community is interested in, either directly or indirectly. Great commercial interests today appreciate the value of training the people of the country along lines and in things in which they are directly and personally interested.

Any business man is proud to be able to say, "We have a good Chautauqua in our town," because the word Chautauqua is recognized as a symbol of culture, high ideals and broad thinking. These are things for your community to be proud of.

Womanly Woman to Defend Suffrage Cause In Debate Before Local Chautauqua Audience

MRS. ROBERT M. LAFOLLETTE

It will be a matter of delight to all the women of this section to learn that Mrs. Bella C. LaFollette, the charming and able wife of the noted Wisconsin Senator, Robert M. LaFollette, is to appear on the local Chautauqua platform this summer. Mrs. LaFollette has been her husband's partner and champion in the bitter political fights of twenty years. Classmates at the University of Wisconsin, married soon after their graduation, with kindred aims and ambitions, their married life has been an inspiring record of mutual helpfulness and achievement. Mrs. LaFollette has reared a family of four children, but has still had time to study law, contribute notable articles to many publications of national circulation, lead the fight for woman's suffrage in her home state and assist the work in other sections of the Union, in addition to actively assisting her husband in much arduous labor. A womanly woman, capable, earnest, with a charming personality, she will win the hearts of the women of this community. She appears in a notable debate on "Woman Suffrage," taking the affirmative of the question against Miss Lucy Price, Secretary of the Ohio Anti-Suffrage Association.
